Special Awareness Session on POSH

On August 21, 2025, Dr. Himani Goswami, a highly qualified POSH trainer, conducted a special awareness training session on the Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) for lower-grade staff, including office boys, drivers, electricians, security guards, gardeners, and housekeeping workers. The session was conducted specifically in Hindi to ensure all attendees could easily understand the content and be sensitized to the POSH Act.

The primary objective of the training was to educate employees on the provisions of the POSH Act, 2013, and the importance of maintaining a safe and respectful workplace. Dr. Goswami used simple and clear language to explain what constitutes sexual harassment, including verbal, non-verbal, and physical behavior. She also clarified that any inappropriate comments or gestures can fall into this category.

The session included a detailed discussion on the role of the Internal Committee (IC), chaired by Dr. Pragya Gupta. Participants were informed how to approach the IC members without any fear if they ever face such a situation, and were also apprised about the power of the IC as a civil court. Dr. Goswami assured the attendees that their complaints would be handled with complete confidentiality.

The training was highly interactive, providing participants with the opportunity to ask questions and clear their doubts. By the end of the session, all the participants had a clear understanding of their rights and responsibilities in the workplace. This training was a significant step towards maintaining a safe and dignified environment within our organization.

Batch 2020-22
Strategy and Operations Analyst

From The Alumni Corner

I began my PGDM journey in July 2020, right in the middle of the Covid pandemic—a time when uncertainty clouded every aspect of life, and the future felt unpredictable. In those challenging times, Jaipuria Institute of Management became a pillar of strength, guiding me to overcome hesitation, build confidence, and grow both personally and professionally.

What initially seemed like a period of doubt transformed into two of the most enriching years of my life. Beyond academics, Jaipuria offered me countless opportunities to learn, unlearn, and evolve. Presentations, public speaking platforms, and active participation in various committees became turning points that helped me confront my fears and realize my potential. These experiences were not just activities—they were stepping stones that instilled resilience, teamwork, and adaptability in me.

The true impact of this journey became evident once I stepped into the professional world. The confidence, discipline, and problem-solving mindset I cultivated at Jaipuria became my strongest assets, enabling me to navigate challenges at work with determination. More importantly, it shaped my outlook towards life, teaching me to embrace change and view every challenge as an opportunity.

Even today, three years later, I carry the same gratitude for those transformative years. They remain a blessing, a foundation that continues to guide me forward. Currently, I am working with Accenture as a Strategy and Operations Analyst, and every step I take in my career reflects the lessons and values I imbibed at Jaipuria.

Student Success Story

I am happy to share that I have received a Pre-Placement Offer (PPO) from the BNY after my summer internship. This has been one of the most fulfilling experiences of my journey so far, and I feel grateful for the opportunity. The internship gave me my first real exposure to the corporate world, and it was both exciting and challenging. Working in a global financial institution like BNY taught me how important attention to detail, discipline, and adaptability are in a professional environment. Even though the work was fast-paced and at times demanding, I found myself learning something new every single day.

One of the biggest takeaways for me was the importance of having the right mindset. Internships can sometimes feel overwhelming, but approaching them with curiosity and a willingness to learn makes all the difference. I realized that small, consistent efforts matter much more than big one-time actions.

Another key lesson was the value of teamwork—observing and interacting with experienced professionals helped me understand how collaboration drives success in large organizations. What made the experience truly meaningful was how it shaped me personally. I became more confident in my abilities, more open to feedback, and more committed to continuous learning. The journey wasn't just about completing tasks—it was about discovering how I could grow, contribute, and prepare myself for the career ahead.

Securing a PPO at the end of the internship was incredibly rewarding. It felt like recognition of the effort I had put in but also a reminder to stay grounded and keep working hard. I am deeply thankful to my mentors at BNY and my institution for guiding and supporting me throughout this journey. For my peers and juniors, I would just say—treat your internship as more than a requirement. See it as an opportunity to learn, build relationships, and prove to yourself what you are capable of.
